Thank you.

There were two other points which I had wanted to make but which I could not fit into the pro forma :

- a. Is this whole Local Plan project worth the cost and effort? Could the new Authority not just soldier on with the documents in place at the moment?
- b. There is a case, by contrast, for saying that Policies MD2 and LT1 in the present West Somerset Local Plan are proving a major strategic error. But, given the consents already issued along the Hopcott Road, it is not clear how the present exercise can rectify or mitigate that.

It would be kind if these points could be read alongside the above response please.

Christopher Durham
