Hi

I have just submitted my response to the Draft Districtwide design guide.

Can I apologize on two counts:

In 3.1 I made the comment that there was no evidence that the DC was using the experts commissioned to look at the character of the built environment - I subsequently corrected this statement because I found evidence of their work on page 34 of the document.

I also went back and did some alterations to the spellings over the whole of my submission.

I found when I printed out the PDF you sent me that these corrections had not been saved.

I did find that the response document was difficult to amend, to save, you had to save every page at a time, otherwise when you moved on to the next section you seem to lose the part that you had worked on. Perhaps this can be altered on other consultations because I lost the submission completely at the beginning and I found this extremely difficult.

Thank you

Rosemary Woods
